DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This intermediate block shingled residence is 2½ stories high, 3 bays wide in the 1st story and 2 bays wide in the 2nd. The left side of the house boasts a single story sun room. Four squat, attenuated pillars with capitals support the porch roof. The pitched roof slopes down to the frieze above the pillars. The eaves being supported by brackets. A secondary shed roof in the second story holds 2 bipartite window groupings and a front balustrade. Two brick steps and a brick stoop lead to the front entrance. A rectangular, wooden door flanked by 4 sidelights above wooden panels; six horizontal lights mount the doorway. The entire arrangement is enframed by wood.

To the left of the entrance is a 3-sided oriel. Each section carries a rectangular, double hung window with 6/6 lights, wood sills and wood lintels. Louvered shutters flank each window. A rectangular stained glass casement window adorns the upper section right of the entrance.

A gently pitched shingle roof with eaves supported by brackets caps the sunroom projecting from the left side of the house. Three casement windows, with 2 vertical rows of 4 lights, are separated by mullions. The windows are capped by 6 rectangular horizontal lights; 2 wooden mullions divide them into 3 groups. The entire grouping is enframed by wood.

Behind the wooden picket balustrade with 3 symmetrical balusters are 2 opposing, bipartite window groupings. Each group holds 2, rectangular double hung windows separated by mullions with 6/6 lights, and a common wooden lintel. A single outside louvered shutter flank each window. The shingle shed roof is accented by a boxed cornice.

On the left side of the main roof, a simple brick chimney rests just below the upper roofline.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The squat columns and kicked pitched roof of this shingle house are reminiscent of "Dutch Colonial" houses in the Hudson Valley and New Jersey. Built between 1930 and 1949, it is also influenced by the very popular bungalow houses of the period.

A small ^{number} of houses in Ashburton are variations of this style. The cylindrical columns are often replaced with squares columns. Minor exterior detailing individualizes each house.
